R. D. Morrison, a recognized authority on life insurance and incidentally the representative of the Provident Life and Trust Company, of Philadelphia, gave an interesting and instructive talk to Prof. Waller's class in Business Methods Friday morning in the High School laboratory. The lecture was not in the interest of any particular Company, but was a careful resume of the underlying principles of life insurance and was purely educational in its character. This class has done unusually good work this year and Prof. Waller is justly proud of what the class, as a whole, has been able to accomplish.
